WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAY 6 1863.

SWAN ISLAND BAR—We understand that a subscription paper will be presented to our citizens to-day for the purpose of raising funds necessary for the removal of the obstructions to navigation in the river. It has already been signed by some of the largest holders of property in this city, and we have no doubt it will meet a similar response from those who have not yet been called upon. No object more meritorious can be considered, and we trust that the paper will show that all are united in the determination to silence forever the only objection ever made to Portland, as well as the only possible cause of doubt as to its future and uninterrupted growth. Let every man who feels an interest in the prosperity of the city show that he is interested also in the work of clearing the river, and the work will be done.

TELEGRAPH SUIT—We received the following special dispatch, last night, from Mr J. E. Strong, Superintendent of the Oregon Telegraph line:

OREGON CITY, April 5th—[illegible] M.—F. A. Collard, member of the last Oregon Legislature, was arrested to-day and brought before Justice Harford on complaint of J. E. Strong, for threatening the life of the latter, with a double barreled shot gun. Collard was required to give bonds in the sum of $250 00 [should have been ten times the amount—Ed. Or'n.] to keep the peace for three months.

The facts of the case are briefly as follows: In attempting to replace a telegraph pole that Collard had dug up, refusing to have it [illegible] on his land, Mr Strong was ordered off, and [illegible] having procured a double barreled shotgun, Collard threatened that if he or any other person should attempt to set the pole on his land, they would do so at the risk of their lives, upon which Mr Strong made complaint as above.

Mr. Collard, in his defense attempted to show that Strong had no right to set the poles on his land without permission, and was justified in using violence in attempting to prevent the setting of the poles. The Court, however, overruled his pleading, and decided that Strong had the right granted him by the State to erect poles on private property provided compensation was paid if any was required. In this case, however, Collard had waived all claims for damage.

The pole will be re set to-morrow on the ground from where it was removed.

"SOUTHERN GENTLEMEN" vs GREASY MECHANICS.—The Muscogee (Alabama) Herald's editor lately gave full vent to his feelings in the following:

Free society! We sicken at the name!—What is it but a conglomeration of greasy mechanics, filthy operatives, small fisted farmers and moon struck theorists? All the Northern, and especially the New England States are devoid of society fitted for well bred gentlemen. The prevailing class one meets with is that of mechanics struggling to be genteel and small farmers who do their own drudgery and yet are hardly fit for association with a gentleman's body servant. This is your free society!

As a guide to what the Southerners think of negro soldiers we quote from a Delaware paper:

The Legislature of Virginia, at the instance of Thomas Jefferson, in order to render justice to those blacks, found it necessary to pass a law, declaring that those having served thro' the war, and imperiled their lives for their country, they were entitled to their freedom, and a law was accordingly passed to carry [illegible] to effect this just and patriotic determination.

INDIAN HOSTILITIES—The Victoria Chronicle says that the British gunboat Forward was fired into by Indians on Kuper's island, when the vessel opened upon them, killing seven and wounding a large number. One man was killed on the Forward. The [illegible] had killed several of Her Majesty's subjects and the Forward was engaged in a retaliatory expedition.

BOONE HELM—The Washington Standard says that the notorious desperado Boone Helm, who escaped from the jail at Olympia a few weeks ago, was re-captured at Fort Yale, B. C., and taken safely back to his old quarters.

An alligator was entered at the Custom House, says the San Francisco Bulletin, valued at $410. The animal has been brought to California for exhibition. Inquiring as to what duty was paid it was learned that there is no duty laid by the United States on any living animal of any kind or description.

In New York the copperheads are subsiding, and the Union sentiment is burning more brightly than ever. When the first note of a Federal victory comes from the army, the people will turn to and bury fathoms deep all token of home sympathy with the rebels.

The Postmaster-General has authorized postmasters throughout the country to frank all official communications of collectors or assessors of internal revenue, with their deputies or assistants.

William A. Richardson of Illinois said in an address at Concord, N. H., on 6th April that "the Republicans must be put down at the point of the bayonet."

A large number of deserters have come back to duty in the Pacific Department under the late proclamation of the President.

The traitor Slidell has property valued at two hundred and thirty thousand dollars in New Orleans, subject to confiscation.

THE NEGRO SOLDIERS [illegible] BANKS.—A correspondent of the New York Times, writing from Baton Rouge, under date [illegible] March [illegible]

The more I see of our [illegible] and the more I converse with [illegible] the more convinced I am that upon them we must ultimately rely as the principal source of our strength in the [illegible] latitudes. It is perfect nonsense for any one to attempt to talk away the [illegible] the [illegible] The [illegible] Native Guard [illegible] any one to produce.

An old European officer—one who has followed the profession of arms [illegible] said to me to-day: "[illegible] expect, sir, I believe that in a short time the colored soldiers will surpass any we have in our army—I mean in subordination, without which no army can be effective. We are in the habit of carrying our [illegible] with us into the field, and [illegible] undue familiarity [illegible] that is often destructive [illegible] toward the black man we feel none of these delicate sentiments [illegible] his part has always been accustomed to [illegible] commanded. Besides this, [illegible] knows the country thoroughly, and [illegible] to fight will fight in [illegible] knows that if taken prisoner he will meet no mercy."

There are many who still sneer at the idea of a colored man being able to fight—but it is only fair to state that if the latter does not give a good account of himself on the battle field, it is simply because nobody will permit him the chance of proving what he can do there. [illegible] Nelson, anxious to have an opportunity of exhibiting to the world what his command is capable of, and thus put their manhood beyond all question, has implored Gen. Banks to put him in the foremost point of danger in the coming struggle, and says that his men are as ready as himself to stake their lives upon the result; but the General—doubtless acting upon explicit orders—says that they must at present at least, be confined to manning the fortifications here.

I am happy to say that the feeling toward these colored regiments through [illegible] army is undergoing the most rapid and extraordinary changes. Soldiers that only a few months, nay weeks ago—would have flown into a furious passion at the bare idea of a black man carrying a musket like themselves, now say, "Oh, if you are going to give them white officers, that is another affair altogether." I have conversed with officers and privates, I may say, and without exaggeration, by dozens, and I find but one feeling prevailing through [illegible] to support the President through [illegible] and every measure to put down the rebellion. Their remark is: "Why shouldn't they stand fire as well as we?" Here and there an exception is to be found, but it is sure to be some stuck up youth who fancies himself made of better stuff than our rival officers who have no compunctions of pride in using black crews—or some cowardly fellow who is wanting some excuse to sneak out of the army anyhow.

THE ONE GREAT ISSUE—It is becoming more and more evident every day, that our only hope of salvation—that our only hope of peace—lies in the preservation of the Union. If we abandon that, all is lost. If we consent to the dismemberment of our great Confederacy, we consent to an ignominous death. The whole world admits this. Even Russell of the London Times, confessed that the Union meant power—meant national existence—meant all that goes to make a people respect themselves and be respected by others. The most unfriendly of our critics, when the truth is wrenched out of them, are compelled to admit that dissolution means dismemberment, the breaking up of our country into petty States, perpetual civil wars, national degradation and national death! Our rivals across the water no longer disguise the facts that they look upon the death of the Union with complacency, because it puts an end to a Power it threatened to overshadow the despotisms of the old world. European statesmen are not so dull witted as not to see that once the sacred ligament that bound the States of our Union together is broken—that once the centripetal force that attracted them to a common centre is destroyed—the different members would fly off into erratic courses.

Hence the Union is worth struggling for, worth fighting for, worth dying for. [illegible] salvation cannot be purchased at too dear a rate—its perpetuity cannot be secured at too great a cost. The struggle may be desperate. [illegible] war may last years. A million lives may be lost, a mountain of debt may be entailed upon us,—but this will be cheap provided we can secure the end of our hopes. The worth of a restored Union will be priceless.—A generation beggared and ruined in its [illegible] would be but a small price for the value received by the world. It would be for us to bear the cross, but it will be for our children to wear the crown. Our own sun might set in darkness, but it would rise up in a ransomed future. We might [illegible] the bitterness of sorrow, but we would transmit a heritage to our descendants that would make their memories blessed forever more. It is [illegible] rious to bear pain and anguish, that those who come after us may escape calamity and shame!

But the Union can be saved only one way. By a united North. Working together, like brothers we might defy the world; distracted by rivalries and jealousies, we would be powerless except against ourselves. Shall we unite like patriots or shall we divide like madmen? Shall we know no Issue but our Country or shall we wrangle over dead issues and irrelevant questions? Shall we defer party contests like men who realize their [illegible] or shall we forget our duty to the Union, to humanity, to God, in the madness of faction.—Albany Journal.

The [illegible] Regiment of Illinois cavalry who have a sort of roving commission down in Virginia are authorized to forage upon the enemy to a limited extent. The rule is that they shall in all cases leave provisions enough to support each member of the family six months. A few days since in one of their reconnoitering excursions they fell upon a household of an old Virginia [illegible] who had some seventy five slaves. On [illegible] ing, it was found [illegible] of the householder that there was only about provisions enough to last six months. Accordingly nothing was molested [illegible] but the next day it was ascertained that [illegible] the night fifty eight of the slaves escaped [illegible] teriously. On learning this fact our [illegible] boys went back and [illegible] the provisions which was allotted to the sixty eight slaves and [illegible]

Richmond papers of the 11th March contain full details of the explosion at the [illegible] Laboratory Works, near Richmond, on the previous day. WASHINGTON, April [illegible]th—The Richmond Dispatch says there is a system of collusion between the blockading fleet off Charleston and those blockade runners who run in Yankee goods or carry out cotton. It thinks that this is established by the fact that the vessels captured by the Federals are only those that are freighted with stores for the Confederate Government.

Miscellaneous Paragraphs

"I don't blame Prince Alfred," said Mrs Partington, "for not wishing to take the throne of Greece; he'd slipped off as sure as you live."

Joseph Brown, a colored man, died at Easton, Maryland, on the 6th April aged 114 years. He was present at the surrender of Cornwallis and held Washington's horse during his second interview with the defeated General.

In Northern Alabama, as we learn from the Mobile papers, the rebels are having much trouble with the Union men. Wayne county is said to be full of them, and they have recently been joined by many deserters from the rebel army.

The Court of Inquiry established by order of the Military Governor at Norfolk has since its organization collected some $200,000 for Northern creditors. The decisions of the Court have given very general satisfaction to all parties having business before it.

J. G. Guthrie, hitherto a tender-footed Unionist living in Louisville, Kentucky, has written a long letter approving at last the Emancipation Proclamation and says that he is satisfied that the war will never end until slavery is choked to death, and the sooner this is done the better.

A curious artifice was adopted by the anti Carnivalists at Rome to render the masked balls at the theatres unpopular. They got up into the upper boxes and showered down thence a quantity of sneezing powder, which set the whole company of dominoes and costumes into violent fits of nasal convulsions, and obliged them to abandon the theatre.

In a speech in Madison county, Alabama, the rebel General Gideon J. Pillow stated that the Union forces had stripped him of all his negroes, burned his four cotton gin houses which he valued at ten thousand dollars each, taken one hundred thousand pounds of bacon, run off five hundred head of fine cattle and two thousand hogs, destroyed his houses in Arkansas and laid waste his plantations.

The army of the United States used during the year 1862 10,000 tons of bullets. By an improvement in elongated bullets, made by E. D. Williams, recently adopted and gradually being brought into the service, such a reduction in the weight is effected that it is calculated a saving of $6,000,000 a year will be made in the expense of metal and of transportation. It will save to the army of the Potomac alone 200 ammunition wagons.

When Admiral Blake was fighting the battles of England in the wars under Cromwell's government, which he opposed, he gave this answer to his men who were inclined to mutiny—"It is our duty to stand by and fight for our country, no matter in whose hands the government may temporarily be." This quotation was given by Judge Daly in his speech at the Union meeting in New York eliciting repeated bursts of applause, and it embodies the doctrine to be preached not only to the copperheads of Gotham, but to the race, whatever portion of the country they disgrace.

The following advertisement appeared in a recent issue of an English paper:

A clergyman wishes to exchange his two little girls (aged nine and seven), either together or separately, for two boys. Address, etc. The bishop has, in consequence, suspended him, and he will be tried under an old act on illegal barter, the punishment for which offence is to have the ears cropped and be put in the stocks for six successive market days, where the crowd can pelt him to their heart's content with rotten eggs, turnips and other vegetables, including brickbats and cobble stones.

CONTRACTS AWARDED.—The contract for furnishing goods, &c., for the Alsea Sub Indian Agency, was awarded by Superintendent Huntington to the following merchants: Messrs. Corbett, Haas & Bro., Failing & Hatt, Harker Bros., Elfelt, Weil & Co., W. B. Mead & Co., Milwain & Morse, and Baum & Bro.

The contract for the Siletz Agency was let by Sub Agent Simpson, to the following gentlemen:—Messrs. Corbett, Baum & Bro., Haas Bros., Harker Bros., and Zieber.

AMUSEMENTS.—There was not as large an audience as usual at the Theatre last evening, to witness the interesting temperance drama of "Ten Nights in a Bar room," though we were pleased to see a large number of ladies present, thus showing that they appreciate the moral importance of this play if the men do not. Notwithstanding the slim audience which generally tends to discourage the actors upon the stage and produce a feeling of dullness in those who do attend, the piece was well rendered. We wish that more had been present, as we are confident many who have not seen the play would have been highly pleased, besides profited by the lesson it teaches,—in fact, we know of several who ought to go and see such plays for at least ten [illegible] nights, if not longer.

To-night the eminent American Actress Miss Edith Mitchell, takes a benefit, and we shall expect to see a crowded house. The play for to-night is Sheridan Knowles's great tragic drama of "The Wife, a Tale of Mantua," Miss Mitchell as 'Mariana,' and Mr. G. B. W[illegible] as "Julian St. Pierre." This is a magnificent play, and from the many compliments paid by the California press to Miss Mitchell in this play, we have no doubt it will prove even more interesting than any previous piece played during the present season. Miss Edith is also to deliver an address to the Portland Fire Department, the bare announcement of which, we take it, will be sufficient to bring out all the "boys." A very amusing farce, the best of the season, will close the evening's entertainment. We are requested to add, that those wishing to secure reserved seats should call at the box office early,—a considerable number have been already taken.

THE INDIANS.—Indian Agent Simpson has gathered about forty of the band of Indians lately infesting the town, and started them off for the reservation under guard.

[illegible].—The Brother Jonathan sailed for Victoria on Monday night at 10 o'clock.

At the late election in Augusta, (Me.) the Republicans gave their candidate for Mayor exactly the number of votes they gave for Lincoln in 1860, notwithstanding they have sent hundreds of volunteers to the war. Their majority is one hundred and fourteen more than in 1862.

Several merchants in Cincinnati, desiring to visit Europe on business applied lately at the State Department for passports, and were told that "orders have been issued that no more passports are to be issued to persons liable to military duty under the law passed at the late session of Congress."

A Michigan soldier, who was accused of stealing a rebel's goose, says he found the bird hissing at the American flag, and arrested it.

If you wish to avoid disappointment and vexation of spirit, order your Clothing of Heuston, Hastings & Co., San Francisco; or go at once to their store on your arrival in the Bay City. They ask a fair price for their goods, which are of the best material and manufacture, and as they never have inferior goods in their stock, you are sure not to be annoyed afterward.

Dr. Hall's Balsam.—This medicine is entitled to the highest confidence of every sufferer from Colds, Coughs, or any form of Lung Complaint. The certificates and statements in its favor are of the highest respectability including Physicians, Clergymen, Medical Professors, Magistrates, and other distinguished [illegible].

DR. BAKER'S PAIN PANACEA.

Is composed entirely of healing gums, and vegetable oils and herbs. It is perfectly safe for the most delicate to use. I can most sincerely say that I have never known any, however delicate, to be injured by it in the least. I will continue to ask the afflicted who have not used it, to try it for the following diseases. If they are not satisfied with its healing properties, the money will be cheerfully returned by the agent where the medicine is for sale.

If you have pain in the stomach or bowels, try a dose of Pain Panacea, and bathe externally over the parts affected, and you will at once restore the proper action and relieve the pain.

If you have a Bruise or Wound, bathe it well with the Pain Panacea four times a day. It will relieve the pain, and take out all the poison, and heal the wound in a short time.

If you are suffering from Neuralgia or Rheumatic Pains, apply the Pain Panacea freely, and take a dose of it internally morning, noon and night. It will not only cure the pain but will remove the cause of the disease.

If you have the Dyspepsia, and your food distresses your stomach after eating, take a dose of Pain Panacea after each meal.

If you have a Cankered or Sore Mouth or Throat, apply the Pain Panacea to the affected parts, and gargle the mouth or throat three or four times a day.

If you have the Diarrhœa or a relaxed state of the bowels, take a dose of Pain Panacea, and they will soon be restored. If you have a painful swelling, bathe the parts freely, and you will soon relieve pain, and the swelling will be reduced.

If you have a severe tooth-ache, apply the Pain Panacea on a piece of cotton and bathe the gum at the same time; it will stop the pain instantly.

If you have a pain in the Breast, Side, Back or Kidneys, bathe the parts affected morning and night, at the same time take a dose of the Panacea internally.

If a Mother has a caked breast, apply the Panacea as hot as it can be borne.

If you feel chilly or cold, as though you were going to have a fever, take a dose of Panacea.

If you have a wound, cut or galls upon your horse, apply the Pain Panacea; it will take out all the inflammation and heal the sore in a short time.

Oh, happy mother [illegible] there,
I see you clasping [illegible]
I see the clinging [illegible]
And how [illegible]

The small soft hands which [illegible]
Are folded from [illegible]
The rosy feet which patter [illegible]
Have danced their last across this silent [illegible]

The dainty robes are folded [illegible]
The half worn shoes stand empty [illegible] side—
The basket that she [illegible] playthings in
Lies half filled as she left it when she died

The pot of flowers she carried to and fro
Or placed among her toys upon the [illegible]
Thrives undisturbed though fair the [illegible]
No sweet voice [illegible] for them any more

These are her fingers [illegible] upon the pane—
I guard them with [illegible]
And this dear pictured face still [illegible] stain—
The misty halo of her frequent kiss

And in these rooms where once her sweet voice rung,
Now soaring loud now softly murmuring
There floats the echo of a song, half sung
The last my darling ever tried to sing

But you, aflush with happy motherhood
Your child alive and warm upon your arm,
You look across into my solitude,
And tell me I must be resigned and calm.

That God is good and kind despite my grief
That He has saved my babe from pain [illegible]
And she is blest Help thou mine unbelief—
Oh, healer But I would that I could know

On what fair angel bosom rests to night
The tender cheek I touched so reverently—
What white-robed spirit [illegible] of my right,
And takes my baby's kiss from me

PROSPECTS OF STARVING THE REBELS OUT—DECAY OF THE RAILROADS IN REBELDOM.—The Richmond Examiner, of March 18th says

From every quarter where our armies are massed—from Vicksburg, Tullahoma, Charleston and Fredericksburg—we have the most gratifying accounts of the condition of our troops and their certain ability to cope with any force that the enemy may hurl against them. The only point upon which there is room for apprehension is that our forces may be forced by want of food for men and horses to relinquish the strongholds from which the enemy could never dislodge them, and that this is a grave and pressing danger we have many fears for believing. It is a fact as well known to the enemy as to ourselves that all the country in the vicinity of our armies has long been stripped of its provisions and forage, and that these armies depend for their existence and maintenance of their present positions upon the railroads. These being facts which none, we think, will venture to gainsay, it behooves the Government to keep posted as to the condition of these roads, and provide that they be kept in a state of the utmost efficiency. It is useless to pass laws putting men into the army and returning them to it when they run away if measures are not at the same time taken to support the army when it is gotten together. The Government should not be content even to keep the railroads in the condition in which the war found them; it should endeavor, and the effort would be successful, to improve upon that condition. The better the roads, the better supplied would our armies be, and consequently the more certain in the resistance to the extraordinary efforts for our subjugation which the enemy proposes to make during the coming campaign.

The railroads of this State are on the point of giving out. They have decreased their speed to ten miles an hour as a maximum rate, and are carrying twenty five to fifty per cent. less tonnage than formerly. This change in their rate of speed and quantity of freight has been made through necessity. The wood work of the roads has rotted and the machinery has worn out, and owing to the stringent enforcement of the conscription law as to railroad employes, the companies have not been able, with all their efforts, to supply neither the one or the other. We are not informed of the actual condition of the railroads in the more southern States, but conceive that they are little better off than our own, except perhaps in the matter of negro labor. The slaves along their routes may not have had the same facilities for escaping to the enemy as in this State.

We have ventured to call attention to this subject because of its vital importance, and from a knowledge that owing to the great measures of finance, impressment, &c., now weighing upon the Government, it has been overlooked. It is not necessary for Government to take possession of the roads. But it should supply them abundantly with the necessary labor and iron, and then insist on their being kept in first rate order, and being worked efficiently. To this end Government should appoint an inspector of railroads. Railroads are a part, and an indispensable part, of our military system; and if they are allowed to fall through from any causes Government and people may prepare for the retreat of our armies, and the surrender of much of the valuable country now in our possession.

DEATH OF A CHILD.—We have sometimes seen a little coffin, like a casket for jewels, all alone by itself in a huge hearse, melancholy with plumes, and gloomy as a frown, and we have thought, not so should we accompany those a little way who go in the morning.—We half wondered why they did not take the little coffin into the carriage with them and lay it gently on their laps—the sleeper there lulled to slumber without a bosom or a cradle. We have wondered what use there was for tears in such a going in the early morning from home to home—like fair white doves with downy wings emerging from nether night, and fluttering for entrance at the windows of heaven. Never has there been a hand wanting to take the wanderer in, and shut out the darkness and the storm.

Upon these little faces it never seemed to us that death should place his great seal. There is no thought of the charnel-house in those young listeners to the invitation whose acceptance we are bound not to forbid: there should be morning songs, and not sighs, fresh flowers, and not badges of mourning, no tears nor clouds, but bright faces and bright dawnings together.

Fold up the white robe; lay aside the forgotten toy; smooth the little unpressed pillow, and gently smile as you think of the white raiment, of the harp of gold and of the fair brow with its diadem of light; smile as you think that no years can make that memory old. An eternal guileless child, waiting about the threshold of paradise for the coming friend from home. Here the glad lips would quiver with anguish, the bright curls growing grizzled and grey, the young heart weary and old—but there, changeless as the stars, and young as the last new morning. How many of these little ones there must be in heaven—gathered up from all climes, even from heathen shores—who have died so young as to retain no memory of earth, and to whom the world of glory seems as their native land!

The Pennsylvania Legislature has granted a divorce to Mr. Nellins, on the ground that he was intoxicated when he was married.

INDUCED by the extensive sale and universal popularity of Hoofland's German Bitters, (purely vegetable,) hosts of ignorant Quacks and unscrupulous adventurers have opened upon suffering humanity the flood gates of Nostrums in the shape of poor Whisky, vilely compounded with injurious drugs and christened Tonics, Stomachic and Bitters.

Beware of the innumerable array of Alcoholic preparations in plethoric bottles and big bellied kegs, under the modest appellation of Bitters, which instead of curing only aggravate disease, and leave the disappointed sufferer in despair.

Hoofland's German Bitters!

Are not a new and untried article, but have stood the test of fifteen years trial by the American public; and their reputation and sale are not rivalled by any similar preparation.

The proprietors have thousands of letters from the most eminent

and
CITIZENS,

Testifying of their own personal knowledge, to the beneficial effects and medical virtues of these Bitters.

From Rev. J. Newton Brown, D. D., Editor of the Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge.

Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects, I yet know of no sufficient reason why a man may not testify to the benefits he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation, in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this the more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to my friend Robert Shoemaker, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests, and for encouragement to try them, when suffering from great and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of these Bitters at the beginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief, and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for six months before, and had almost despaired of regaining. I, therefore, thank God and my friend for directing me to the use of them.

J. NEWTON BROWN.
PHILADELPHIA, June 23, 1861

PARTICULAR NOTICE.

There are many preparations sold under the name of Bitters, put up in quart bottles, compounded of the cheapest whisky, or common rum, costing from 20 to 40 cents per gallon, the taste disguised by Anise or Coriander Seed.

This class of Bitters has caused, and will continue to cause as long as they can be sold, hundreds to die the death of the drunkard. By their use the system is kept continually under the influence of Alcoholic Stimulants of the worst kind, the desire for Liquor is created and kept up, and the result is all the horrors attendant upon a drunkard's life and death.

For those who desire and will have a Liquor Bitters, we publish the following receipt. Get One Bottle of Hoofland's German Bitters and mix with three Quarts of Good Brandy or Whiskey, and the result will be a preparation that will far excel in medicinal virtues and true excellence any of the numerous Liquor Bitters in the market, and will cost much less. You will have all the virtues of Hoofland's Bitters in connection with a good article of Liquor, at a much less price than these inferior preparations will cost you.

ATTENTION, SOLDIERS!

AND THE FRIENDS OF SOLDIERS.

We call the attention of all having relations or friends in the army to the fact that "HOOFLAND'S German Bitters" will cure nine tenths of the diseases induced by exposures and privations incident to camp life. In the lists, published almost daily in the newspapers, on the arrival of the sick, it will be noticed that a very large proportion are suffering from debility. Every case of that kind can be readily cured by Hoofland's German Bitters. Diseases resulting from disorders of the digestive organs are speedily removed. We have no hesitation in stating that, if these Bitters were freely used among our soldiers, hundreds of lives might be saved that otherwise will be lost.

We call particular attention to the following remarkable and well authenticated cure of one of the nation's heroes, whose life, to use his own language, "has been saved by the Bitters."

PHILADELPHIA, August 23, 1862.

Messrs. Jones & Evans—Well, gentlemen, your Hoofland's German Bitters has saved my life. There is no mistake in this. It is vouched for by numbers of my comrades, some of whose names are appended, and who were fully cognizant of all the circumstances of my case. I am, and have been for the last four years, a member of Sherman's celebrated battery, and under the immediate command of Captain R. B. Ayres. Through the exposure attendant upon my arduous duties, I was attacked in November last with inflammation of the lungs, and was for seventy two days in the hospital. This was followed by great debility, heightened by an attack of dysentery. I was then removed from the White House, and sent to this city on board the steamer State of Maine, from which I landed on the 28th of June. Since that time I have been about as low as one could be and still retain a spark of vitality. For a week or more I was scarcely able to swallow anything, and if I did force a morsel down, it was immediately thrown up again.

I could not even keep a glass of water on my stomach. Life could not last under these circumstances, and, accordingly, the physicians who had been working faithfully, though unsuccessfully, to rescue me from the grasp of the dread Archer, frankly told me they could do no more for me, and advised me to see a clergyman, and to make such disposition of my limited funds as best suited me. An acquaintance who visited me at the hospital, Mr. Frederick Steinbron, of Sixth below Arch Street, advised me, as a forlorn hope, to try your Bitters, and kindly procured a bottle. From the time I commenced taking them the gloomy shadow of death receded, and I am now, thank God for it, getting better. Though I have taken but two bottles, I have gained ten pounds, and I feel sanguine of being permitted to rejoin my wife and daughter, from whom I have heard nothing for eighteen months; for, gentlemen, I am a loyal Virginian, from the vicinity of Front Royal. To your invaluable Bitters I owe the certainty of life which has taken the place of vague fears—to your Bitters will I owe the glorious privilege of again clasping to my bosom those who are dearest to me in life.

Very truly yours, ISAAC MALONE.

We fully concur in the truth of the above statement, as we had despaired of seeing our comrade, Mr. Malone, restored to health.
